Prince Edward Island National Park

Rip currents are a hazard on PEI beaches and form when waves break near the shoreline, piling up water between the breaking waves and the beach. One of the ways this water returns to sea is to form a rip current; a narrow stream of water moving swiftly away from shore. The danger is when swimmers become trapped in the rapid current and are swept offshore. Caught in a rip current?

Stay calm. Attract attention. Conserve energy.

Tread Water. Waves can assist you back to shore.

If that doesn't work; swim parallel to shore out of the current-toward the breaking waves. For more information:

Hurricane Preparedness

Heavy rain, sustained winds, storm surge, flooding, and power outages are all things that can be expected during a hurricane or tropical storm.

The North Rustico Emergency Management Organization (EMO) wants to remind everyone that hurricane season is underway, and the best response to these events is proper emergency planning.

Helpful reminders when planning for an emergency include:

- making a household emergency plan to help everyone know what to do in case of emergency;
- updating your preparedness kits, including extra food, pet supplies, water, masks and hygiene products;
- bringing in or tying down furniture, play equipment, barbecues or anything that can become projectiles in the event of high winds;
- ensuring you have fuel for generators and vehicles, as well as propane for outdoor cooking devices such as barbecues;
- replacing batteries in smoke and carbon monoxide alarms; and
- keeping up with the latest information from reliable sources such as following PEI Government, local media, and law enforcement social media channels.
- The Town of North Rustico's Reception Centre is at the North Rustico Lions Club 17 Timber Lane. Hours will be posted at the appropriate time.
